Kentuckian was President of U. S. for a Day.

Frogtown, Ky., has the unique distinction of having been the birthplace of a man who was president of the United States for the space of a chison, who, as a citizen of Missouri, served in the national senate under Polk and Taylor and Pierce and for whom the town of Atchison, in Kansas, was named. In those times the president pro tem. of the senate was in line for the presidency, in case there were no president or vice-president of the United States. March 4, 1849, fell upon Sunday. Gen. Taylor was due to be inaugurated president on that day, but because it was Sunday he refused to be inaugurated till the next day, nor did he take the oath of office till the ceremony of inauguration occurred March 5, in front of the capitol. Hence Semator Atchison, who was at that time president pro tem. of the senate, by this peculiar combination of circumstances became president of the United States de jure from one hour of noon on March 4th to the hour of inauguration on the day following. Atchison lived many years after his retirement from the senate and was careful to have this incident incorpor ated.-He died in 1866.

An Unknown Toungue.

A young man just returned from college was out cycling one day when suddenly he came to a steep gradient. While he was decending he lost control of his machine and was thrown.

Two men came and found him lying in that predicament. When asked how it happened he replied: "Well I came down that decline with the greatest velocity and lost my central gravity and was precipitated on the pard macadamized road."

"Away, lad, Let him alone," replied one of the men. "He's a foreigner.

"The Liver Pills act So Naturally and Easily."

Such a statement, coming from the cashier of a bank, shows what confidence responsible people have in these pills. Mr. A. L. Wilson after trying them wrote:

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and also your Anti-Pain Pills, on myself, with good results. The Liver Pills act so naturally and so easily that I scarcely know that I have taken a pill. Frequently being troubled with headache I take an Anti-Pain Pill and get immediate relief in every case.'
A. L. Wilson, Sparta, Ill.

Mr. Wilson was for a number of years cashier of the First National Bank of Sparta.

Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills are different from others. Many kinds of liver pills are "impossible" after one trial on account of their harshness. Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills do not act by sheer force but in an easy, natural way, without griping or undue irritation. They are not habit forming.

that work as a pleasure, not a pen-Thus saith Sarah Bernhardt, and she continues: "To the woman who would keep young, and that is every woman, I give froely my ten commandments of They are distilled out of the experience of sixty-seven years. The years have been crowded with work, overflowing with abundant life, brimming with zest and joy. They are years that have been dived, not existed, nor The Greatest of Books has a phrase that remains pleasantly in my mind. It is "live more abundantly". That should be the desire of every normal mind, to live life more abundantly. To have an abundance of life one must draw from life one great, absorb ing interest. It may be our ambition, our work, our family, whatever long as you are deaply interested in something you will remain young.

For myself, my work has always been the one great passion of my life. It has absorbed me, not consumed me. Mark the difference. It has not been as the flame to the fuel which licks up and destroys, but as the ocean, beating ceaselessly against the shore. It has not taken my life, but it has given me life.

I have worked hard, but enjoyingly. Never, even when I was physically exhausted, did my spirit fain at my work. A woman's youth is in her soul, and my soul has always be n filled with worship for my work. How to make that work finer, stronger, more beautiful, has been the purpose of my life, the supreme object the paramount consideration. So never since I became an actress, have I broken that, my first commandment; 'Have one chief absorbing in life."

I have done much work, but I have enjoyed many pleasures. I have had many "little interests" in life to keep me from becoming one-sided or warped. My life, aside from my work has been a whirling succession of fads I have nainted pictures and baye sculr-I have painted pictures and have sculptured images. I have ascended in balloons, I have written essays, stories, my mamcire, even plays. All this to amuse me, to make me light, to prevent that strained expression of the face that reflects a cornesponding strain of the mind, as though a piece of nuber had been drawn too tight and was ready to snap. What if one fad succeed another? They serve their pumpose for the day or the week or the month, of making one playful so that one may better do her work. The buttenfly one hour, the working bee the other eleven, is the real schigmie of life.

I was but 18 when I first necognize the need of my third commandment. I saw women in my home circle and outside who were growing old before they were 30, because they were carrying burdens that were unnecessary were wearing out their lives in a battle with or for things that didn't marter. I decided that there are only a few things that count for much and that they count for so much that slighter things should not enter into the sum.

For instance, I decided that it was preseminently worth while for me to become a successful actress. That was the great escential of my life. I decided that to be happy I must not only have my work, but I must have that interest in life which comes from loving and being loved. These were essentials, and desiring them much I, of course, secured them. That is the daw of minds. We got what we want if we want it enough. Therefore, find the as arial in life and adhere to it, easting the non-es sentials from your life, for they only absorb dime and count for raught Make friends, many friends, take an

William McKinley's Character Extolle in Eloquent Sermon.

Rev. Russell H Bready, who spoke it. the theme, "The Man With an Unseen scepter, William McKinley."

"There is a certain respect that our people should learn to pay our rulers," said the Rev. Mr. Bready This is the cartoon age, the President and the Governor do not escape. Many of the cartoons of our Presidenit and Governor destroys the respect of the younger generation for the dignity of government. "We too often think of the President as the head of the political party that elected him rather than the President of the people. The President of the United States is your President, whether you voted for him or not. William McKinley swayed an invisible scepter over the people The people of the South recognized him as their President, as they had no other President since the war. He wiped out all sectional lines.

"He swayed an invisible sceptire for the liberty of Cuba. For many years the Cubans had suffered dire oppressio but they were not quite strong enous to throw off the Spanish yoke, For long time Uncle Sam sat on the fience concerned it seemed. The oppression is not very great, thought the would, if a niation whose very existence was in the interests of liberty would take no pant with Cuba. One day, when the Maine steamed into the Havans harbor, the Spandards said, we will teach those Yamkees to mind their own business,' and soon the report was sent around the world that the Maine had been blown up. "The cup was now full, Uncle Sam egan to climb down from the tence, all the world knew what it meant. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes, It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfiedcustomers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $5.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received: We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash ilsoount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. You run no risk in sending us an order as the tires may be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any psice. We know that you will be so well plassed that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

An explanation of the mystery was found in a letter left by the owner of the chest, in part as follows:

"This hest is tohe property Hesikia Thomas formerly of New England, later of the Michigan wilderness. A spiritualist of God, believing, and my spirit still roams over these lakes in the full moon seasons guarding all my valuable deposited possessions, for they are many and varied. God gave many wonderful secrets but because of the great sin He took them all away but one the least of them-the turning of sable stones into gold. I have bunied this secret by filled the earth with gold. Devils do not believe it, but has He not promised, "Seek and find?"
